The Heart of the Home

The interior is designed for modern life, centered around a magnificent open-plan living area (conservatory/dining/kitchen)—the ultimate "hub" for Sunday roasts and evening entertaining. With two additional large reception rooms, the floor plan is a dream for those needing a home office, a dedicated playroom, or a quiet snug.

The owners words:

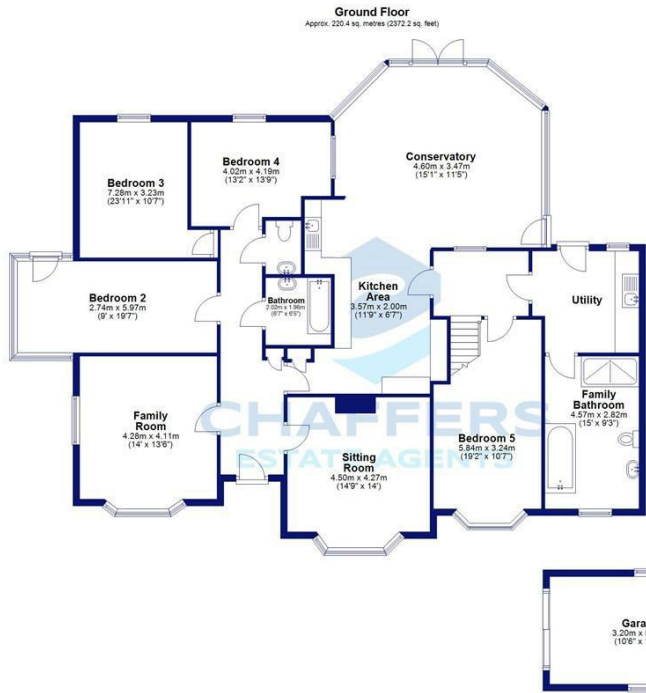

We bought this family home on a move back from abroad, it offered us so much space for our expanding family. I loved the village atmosphere and the fact I could get to very rural areas easily and also to a station from Templecombe straight into London. The house offered us so much space for children to spread out and huge communal rooms where we could all have fun together.
