The Stone Family

Occupying a generous corner plot, this charming semi-detached family home was built in the 1950s and boasts an attractive frontage, framed by a verdant garden that bursts with seasonal colour. A driveway and garage offer convenient parking, while the curved double-storey bay window - reminiscent of the early mid-century architectural style - adds character and distinction to the facade.

The home is flooded with natural light from large windows, creating a bright and welcoming atmosphere. The spacious reception room features an original stone fireplace, a focal point that speaks to the home's heritage, while the bay window enhances the sense of space.

Double doors lead seamlessly into the dining room, where bi-fold doors frame views of the charming courtyard garden, inviting indoor-outdoor living. The rear courtyard garden is a sun-trap, with a south-west aspect.

A modern, monochrome kitchen, equipped with integrated appliances, offers both practicality and style, making it a perfect space for family meals and entertaining. The ground floor has been thoughtfully extended to provide an additional living area, complete with a modern, spacious bathroom and outside access. This flexible space could easily be transformed into a fourth bedroom or an additional reception room to suit evolving family needs.

Upstairs, three well-proportioned bedrooms continue the home's sense of light and space. Each room enjoys garden or street views, while the upper floor is completed by a family bathroom and a separate WC, maintaining both comfort and convenience.

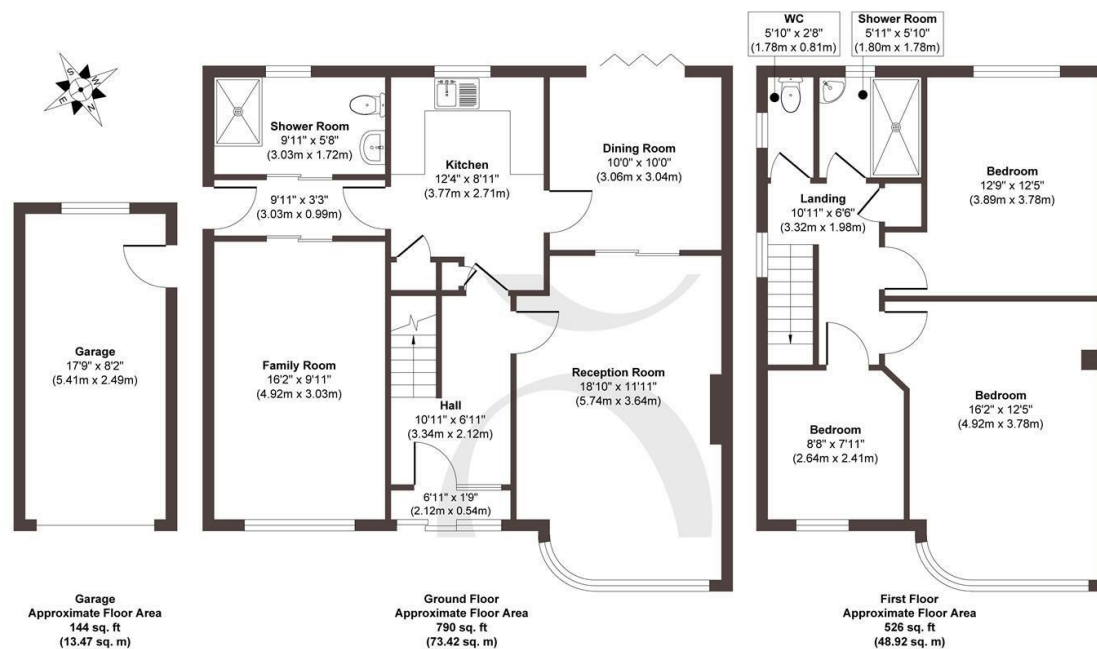

Beyond the property, Redhill's excellent location adds to this home's appeal. The train station, a short stroll at the bottom of the hill, provides quick and easy connections to London, making it an excellent choice for commuters. Earlswood, with its charming village feel and convenience stores, is just a short stroll away, offering a wonderful blend of community and convenience.

For families, the area is well-served by highly regarded schools, making this an ideal setting for those looking to settle in a thriving, family-friendly neighbourhood. A short drive brings you to Priory Farm, a beloved local spot for farm-to-table produce, scenic walks, and family activities. Meanwhile, Redhill town centre is close by, offering a range of shopping, dining, and leisure options, ensuring that everything you need is within easy reach.
