4 Bed Detached Villa located in Pirnmill

Set in an elevated position with breath taking views towards the Mull of Kintyre and beyond, Wellside is a substantial traditional Scottish villa offering generous family accommodation and an abundance of character. With four bedrooms and three reception rooms, this impressive home provides flexible living space in a truly picturesque setting.

One of the property's most captivating features is its spectacular west-facing outlook, where wonderful sunsets can be enjoyed from the comfort of home. The property also has a unique history, with its private water supply drawn from the historic St Columba's Well, from which the house takes its name, the water from this well is reputed to have healing properties and is known to complement the whisky too!

Surrounded by the natural beauty and tranquillity, Wellside presents a rare opportunity to acquire a characterful home in an enviable location. While the property would benefit from some TLC and modernisation, it offers exceptional potential for buyers looking to restore and enhance a traditional Scottish villa to its full glory.

Wellside is a valued property with great potential, and while it would benefit from a degree of refurbishment, these improvements would provide an opportunity to enhance its comfort, appearance, and overall appeal. The works required are primarily focused on refreshing and updating the existing space rather than making structural alterations, allowing the character of the property to be retained while bringing it forward for continued use and enjoyment.

With thoughtful improvements and careful attention to detail, this home can be revitalised into a welcoming and attractive property that respects its existing qualities while meeting modern expectations.

Entrance Vestibule

A little more information

Wellside , Thunderguy has elevated location on outskirts of the West coast pretty village of Pirnmill.

Pirnmill Village is a beautiful little gem on the west coast of Arran, with a peaceful, timeless charm. Nestled between the hills and the sea, it has a wonderfully relaxed feel — the kind of place where you can enjoy quiet walks, stunning sunsets, and the simple pleasure of watching the waves roll in across the Firth of Clyde. Its small community, coastal views, and unspoilt surroundings give Pirnmill a special character. It feels like a place where nature takes centre stage, offering a perfect escape for anyone looking for tranquillity, fresh air, and a slower pace of life.

Pirnmill is a welcoming and close-knit village on the west coast of the Isle of Arran, where community spirit and natural beauty come together. The village has a much-loved Post Office and shop, providing groceries, everyday essentials, and an off-sales service for local residents and visitors alike. The village is also home to a local school, helping to support families within the community. Older pupils travel to Lamlash High School, with daily bus transport provided, ensuring they can continue their education while remaining part of village life. A popular feature of Pirnmill is the Lighthouse Restaurant, a wonderful place to enjoy good food and the stunning coastal views that make this part of Arran so special.

The Isle of Arran is a place where you can find a little bit of everything you could ever want from a Scottish island; an ever-changing coastline, dramatic mountain peaks, sheltered beaches, verdant forests, great cultural festivals and a wealth of tasty local produce.

DIRECTIONS

From Brodick Pier turn right and proceed through the village taking the coastal road north through Corrie, Sannox, Lochranza and round through Catacol. Proceed for a further three miles to the signpost to Coire An Lochan where the track leads up to Thunderguy and Wellside is the first house on the right.
