Weymede

Weymede is situated on the border where Byfleet morphs into Weybridge and set in 15 acres of private, fully enclosed landscaped garden featuring a wide variety of mature trees and shrubs. The estate benefits from its own totally private frontage to the river Wey and is perfectly situated for Weybridge or New Haw stations, Mercedes Benz World, Brooklands museum/shopping and fine local schools. The unique environment of Weymede is protected by legal covenants administered by a committee of volunteer residents.

It is, in short, one of Surrey's best kept secrets

Living at Weymede

Span estates were designed to "span the gap between the suburban monotony of the typical 'spec building' and the architecturally designed individually built residence" and to "think about a community first, the buildings second and to use the placing of dwellings to shape the communal space"

Architect speak maybe and in most housing built since the 1970's you would need a very large pinch of salt to believe it. Weymede however in common with most Span estates genuinely does just what it says in the blurb. It shatters the dominance of the road and car and brings the garden closer to each home by "placing landscape first, landscape second and landscape last".

One of Eric Lyons original intentions was to "engineer a sense of community by forcing people to interact by dint of their environment". Maybe a little utopian but living at Weymede is quieter, friendlier and a whole lot prettier than most suburban areas.

For more information on Weymede please speak to one of our staff or you can find much more on www.weymede.co.uk, where you will also see the "Grand Designs Magazine" article in 2005.
