Brompton Park Crescent, London

A beautifully presented 2 bedroom, 2 bathroom garden apartment located within this desirable residential development quietly tucked away in the West Brompton area of Fulham.

All properties within Brompton Park Crescent are provided with an allocated off street private parking space and benefit from an array of communal benefits including the extensive, beautifully maintained communal gardens, the support of a long standing onsite porter and exclusive use of the onsite leisure centre which includes a swimming pool, gym and saunas. Residents also have direct access into the additional green, open space of Brompton Park itself.

Quietly situated at the southern end of Seagrave Road, a no through road, the relatively secluded location belies the fact that the development is extremely well located for West Brompton, Fulham Broadway & Earls Court undergrounds stations with the A4/M4 running east into Central London and west to Heathrow Airport and beyond located only a little further to the north.
